

BJP's organizational structure strong in Indore due to Sangh Parivar

► BJP always gets benefit of movement of Sangh and Parivar organizations

Milind Muzumdar, Indore

Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh has played an important role in the election campaign of BJP. Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh is called the mother organization of BJP. The Sangh does not directly participate in politics nor does it interfere directly, but full-time workers i.e. pracharakas sent by the Sangh work as organization ministers in the BJP. This organization minister informs the BJP about the wishes of the Sangh. At the national level, BL Santosh, sent by BJP, is fulfilling the responsibility of the General Secretary of the Organization, while at the state level, Hitanand is looking after the same responsibility.

If Mahendra Hardia, Tulsi Silavat and the leaders who recently left Congress and joined BJP are left out, then all the present MLAs, MPs and most of the leaders of BJP have come into public life through Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh. Most of them have worked in Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad, the student wing of the Sangh during their student days. Such leaders include Sumitra Mahajan, Kailash Vijayvargiya, Krishna Murari Moghe, Malini Gaur, Ramesh Mendola, Usha Thakur, Akash Vijayvargiya, Sudarshan Gupta, Rajesh Sonkar. In the 2024 Lok Sabha elections also, BJP's election campaign will be run under the supervision of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh. BJP's Lok Sabha candidate Shankar Lalwani's father and his grandfather were Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh officials. In the recently concluded All India Representative Assembly of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh in Nagpur, it has been decided that this time the Sangh workers will work to increase the voting percentage. Obviously BJP will benefit from the Sangh's campaign.

Indore's political character changed due to the Ram Janmabhoomi movement - Due to the Ram Janmabhoomi liberation movement that intensified in 1987, 88, the political character of Indore completely changed. Castes considered backward on the basis of social inequality actively participated in the Ram Janmabhoomi movement. During this period, the work of the Sangh expanded tremendously in the city. There was a dent in the vote bank of Congress and the urban middle class got attracted towards BJP. Since 1990, there has been complete dominance of BJP in Indore city. Talking about electoral politics, due to the riots caused by the Ram Janmabhoomi movement in 1989, the notorious Bombay market strongman Bala Baig announced to contest the elections as an independent.

In this election held in the background of the Ram Janmabhoomi movement, minority voters gave one-sided support to Bala Baig. As a result, he got 88,000 votes in the Lok Sabha elections. In the normal elections, Congress would have got all these votes, but due to the special circumstances of the Lok Sabha elections, the independent candidate got so many votes. As a result, Congress candidate former Chief Minister and former Union Home Minister Prakash Chandra Sethi lost to Sumitra Tai Mahajan, who is contesting the elections for the first time. This Lok Sabha election proved to be a big turning point for the politics of Indore.

This election marked the beginning of the decline of Congress and the rise of BJP in Indore district.

Giving ticket to Muslim candidate

Assembly elections were held in 1990 within 6 months of the 1989 Lok Sabha elections. In this assembly election, Congress made the crucial mistake of giving a ticket to the Muslim candidate in constituency number 4. On the recommendation of Collector-turned-Rajya Sabha MP Ajit Jogi, Congress gave the ticket from number four Assembly to Mohammad Iqbal Khan. Due to the candidature of Mohammad Iqbal Khan, there was polarization in the entire western Indore. In the result, Kailash Vijayvargiya won from assembly constituency number 4 by around 27000 votes without campaigning. Kailash Vijayvargiya could not actually campaign because his father passed away the day after submitting the nomination form. Laxman Singh Gaur, who had worked with Kailash Vijayvargiya in the Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad, handled the entire election campaign. Laxman Singh Gaur became established in the entire assembly constituency with this election. In the 1993 assembly elections held after 1990, BJP shifted Kailash Vijayvargiya to area number 2. In 1993, Laxman Singh Gaur, who was popular in the area by the name of Lakhan Dada, was released from here. Laxman Singh Gaur won that election easily by more than 30,000 votes. After this, in 1998 and 2003 also, Laxman Singh Gaur won and scored a hat-trick of becoming MLA. He unfortunately died in a road accident in February 2008. After the generation of leaders like Rajendra Dharkar, Shrivallabh Sharma, Nirbhay Singh Patel, Narayan Rao Dharam, Satyawan Singhal, Utsav Chand Porwal, leaders like Kailash Vijayvargiya, Laxman Singh Gaur, Prakash Sonkar, Sumitra Mahajan, Gopi Krishna Nema led the BJP organization to Indore city. They played an important role in making it invincible. After 1990, the influence of Sangh Parivar also expanded tremendously in Indore district. Its political impact was also felt not only in Indore district but in the entire Malwa and Nimar region.

Two children get new lease of life in AIIMS

Children suffering from heart disease were cured without surgery

Chronicle Reporter, Bhopal

Under the guidance of Professor Dr. Ajay Singh, Executive Director of AIIMS Bhopal, for the first time, a rare and complex congenital heart disease in pediatric patients was cured without surgery using the Nitinol device.

In the first case, a 1-year-old girl who weighed only 6 kg was diagnosed with a large ostium secundum atrial septal defect of 25 mm size, who was referred to AIIMS from another hospital for surgical closure. But here the team of cardiology doctors after examination decided to repair it without operation and found it suitable for percutaneous transcatheter device closure. In this case the child was successfully managed with a 28 mm button-like nitinol device and the child did not require surgery.

passed to the heart through a vein from the patient's waist and the hole was closed.

Three year old child diagnosed with septal defect

In the second case, a 3-year-old boy weighing 12 kg was diagnosed with a large ostium secundum atrial septal defect of 25 mm size, who was referred to AIIMS from another hospital for surgical closure. But here the team of cardiology doctors after examination decided to repair it without operation and found it suitable for percutaneous transcatheter device closure. In this case the child was successfully managed with a 28 mm button-like nitinol device and the child did not require surgery.
